GOSSIP OF THE RACETRACK

TUCKER, ELLISON AND WERNBERG PLAY FLAXMAN AT LONG ODDS.

McCafferty, the Former Trainer of the Horse, Gutside of the Track—An Unsuccessful Grab at Bookmaker Shannon's Bankroll Leads to Capture

The winning of the fifth race at Brighton yesterday by Flaxman, who carried the cotors of Jerry Wernberg, a well known Brooklyn lawyer, caused a great deal of talk. Flaxman was formerly trained by John J. McCafferty, who was ruled off the turf last winter by the Pacific Coast Jockey Club for alleged sharp practice with one of Wernalleged sharp practice with one of Wern-berg's horses at Los Angeles. McCafferty under this ruling, did not apply for a trainer's license from the Jockey Club to operate in the East and has not been seen on any of the local racetracks this year. But it was said that McCafferty was not far away from Brighton yesterday when Flaxman got the money. The horse was entered in Wernberg's name, but the name of the trainer was not announced on the official programme. On the blackboard at the judges' stand, however, it was posted that the trainer of Flaxman was F. B. Van Meter, the owner of Handzarra, who suddenly came to life in the third event. Flaxman opened in some books at 100 to 1. Charley Ellison is said to have made one bet of $2,000 to $20 with George Boles, while altogether he wagered enough on the horse to pick up a cool $20,000 after the race. Wernberg's agents also went through the ring down small wagers, while a few minutes before the barrier went up to a magnificent start Billy Porter, who handles the commissions of Robert Tucker, the heavy betting trainer of the Brown Stable, wen up and down the line plastering the book with $100 wagers. As a result of this support with 8 to 1 in some of the smaller books Tucker, it was estimated, took $30,000 from the ring, while Porter had a few good bets to cash for himself. This race was a peculiar petting proposition. Preen opened favorite at 6 to 5, and some of the big plungers hopped aboard only to see the price go back to 2 to 1. Then Green Morris's Bryan caught the really wise money and was hammered from 5 to 2 down to even money. Few of the smart fellows who cashed on The Clown on Saturday wanted any part of him this time, but H. E. Rowell's Corn Blossom was well played across the boards. The Clown's lack of took up a penalty for winning Saturday's which made his impost 114, instead of 102 as announced on the card.

Following the fine and suspension inflicted on Jockey Miller for foul riding on Saturday the punishment handed to Jockey Finn for rough riding in the Undergraduate Stakes shows that Brighton at least will not stand for such tactics. The decision of the stewards in Finn's case was unanimous. It turns out that it was Finn, on Maxnar, who was to blame for the collision between Bobbie Kean and Garnish in the race last week which brought about the suspension of Jockey Bell for queer riding on Billy Garth's horse so that when Finn proceeded to adopt simi-lar tactics in the Undergraduate Stakes the stewards decided to discipline him. When Koerner, who rode Monfort, went before sewards with a protest of foul Finn was called up instanter. The laster admitted that Tourenne had bumped Monfort all through the scretch but said that he could not keep his colt straight because of slippery reins. The disqualification of Tourenne sharpshooters, who had quietly backed him wn a point to 6. A majority of the crowd, not eager to take odds on against J. C. Core. of the latter on top was enthusiastically eeted. J. C. Core, by the way, was ridden Horner, as Miller was on the ground, Horner did not get away any too well and was knocked into the rail by Tourenne in such manner that he was beaten at the half Indications point to a lively time at the

of the case remains to be seen, but it is safe to say that in future the full complement of stewards will preside over all jumping races on the Jockey Club's tracks. While the public bet with confidence on Bound Brook yesterday the insiders went to Oro, who was played from 4 to 1 down to 18 to 5. These shrewd individuals evidently reckoned with-out Harry Page, who came on with Pure Pepper, also well backed by the clubhouse set. and beat the supposed good thing in a hard drive. Just as this race was over a horse attached to an old high wheeled sulky ran away behind the outer rail on the backstretch and was travelling like a runaway locomotive-when he suddenly stepped in a hole, horse and sulky instantly disappearing in the tall grass. It took half a dozen Pinks to get the runaway out of the harness, whereupon he ran away again, much to the amusement maker Pat Shannon, was paying off on the last race, a man sneaked up behind him and made a two handed dive into the cashbox with a bunch of yellowbacks in view. Carroll pushed him aside, empty handed, and the fellow began to run. In a jiffy somebody tripped him up and he fell heavily. But he for the passageway under the grand stand. Pink was at his heels and catching him the collar he pulled the sneak thief over backward. Then everybody sat on him until the sleuths dragged him off to be handed over to the Coney Island police.

"Even Jesse James wouldn't have tried such a bold thing on the racetrack," said John G. Cavanaugh after the capture. "It required a lot of nerve, but the fellow was up against the wrong crowd this time."

The right money was on Handzarra this ime and she came home on the bit. In the last race she received one of Martin's apathetic rides. But Martin was at his best yes-terday and rode for his life. Kiamesha, the public choice, ran a bad race with Sewell up, for she stopped to a walk in the stretch. Sewell, by the way, was also beaten on Bryan, another hot favorite, but he made good on Belle of Iroquois, the only successful choice

Belle of Iroquois ran in the colors of the Patchogue Stable, owned by William DuBois, the well known clubhouse commissioner. Sam Hildreth, who also won the first race with Barney Schreiber's Earl Rogers. Nearly every plunger on the track backed Belle of Iroquois in order to get out on the day. Several books opened her at 10 to 1, but the general quoation at the outset was 5 to 2. Yorkist, Vaquero, Sea Salt, Suada, Lady Vincent, Beauclere and Waterspeed were all tipped in

The books won big money on the day. In the first race Lady Ellison, Ancestor, Varieties and Ocean Spray, who carried the bulk of the money, were unplaced. The play on Bound Brook and Oro in the steeplechase was also velvet for the ring in the second, though Pure Pepper was well backed. Kia-mesha and Nannie Hodge, unplaced in the third event, turned more coin into the strong boxes, the books winning in spite of the pay price, 20 to 1, but this was because the erratio Cochran had the leg up. While the big bettors went down hard on J. C. Core in the stake event and the disqualification of Tourenne helped the ring broke about even, as Monfort was liberally backed straight and place, with Judge Post taken to show all over the ring. There was a big cleanup for the layers with Bryan and Preen in the fifth, the losers on Flaxman and Corn Blossom, three ways, being more than offset. Then came a successful plunge by the talent on Belle of Iroquois in the last, with Yorkist heavily supported for the place and Tony Aste's Lady Vincent, backed three ways, with odds dopping from 20 down to 10.

TOURENNE IS DISQUALIFIED. Stewards Also Suspend Jockey Finn fo

The Brighton stewards are determined to put a stop to foul riding. Because of rough tactics all through the race Jockey Finn was set down for two days yesterday and his mount, F. A. Forsythe's Tourenne, 6 to 1, who finished first in the Undergraduate Stakes, for two-year-olds, five and a half furlongs, was disqualified. This decision gave the race to R. T. Wilson Jr.'s Monfort, 4 to 1 second choice, who came home three lengths in front of the Newcastle Stable's . C. Core, odds on favorite. P. J. Dwyer Judge Post, 7 to 1, was moved up into third place. Finn, after letting Tourenne jam J. C. Core to the rail in the backstretch, bore out in the run home, clearly interfering with Monfort. Koerner, who rode the latter, said that Finn struck him repeatedly with him the but the latter appropriate the said that th his whip, but the latter entered an emphatic denial. The decision was wildly applauded by a majority of the spectators. The race was run in 1:07.

For some reason the wise men did not care for Klamesha at 6 to 5 in the handlean at six furlongs, and the crack mare ran ac ordingly, coming home in the ruck. Hand zarra, on the other hand, backed down to 0 to 2, showed a form reversal and came to the wire two lengths in front of Far West, 20 to 1. Delly Spanker, 6 to 1, was a length and a half away. Nannie Hodge, 8 to 1, blew up in the last quarter. The time was 1:13. After riding a poorly judged race on T. Hitchcock Jr.'s Oro, backed down to 18 to 5, in the steeplechase, Ray had nothing left when Harry Page challenged at the last jump with his gelding, Pure Pepper, 3 to 1, the latter winning in a drive by half a length in 5:29 2-5. Orowent out to race at top speed through the last three-quarters of a mile with Bound Brook, 9 to 5 favorite, who fell at the last jump on the backstretch. Thistiedale, the original favorite, went away up in the betting, his rider falling off gently at the paddock jump the second time around. Maiden jockeys had the mounts in the first race, for platers at a mile and a sixteenth. A boy named Pickett sat still while Barney pace and romped home three lengths in front of Delmore, 8 to 1, with Sonoma Belle, a 60 to 1 shot, third. Lady Ellison, 4 to 1, favorite, was a poor fourth. The time was 1:17 4-5.

Jerry Wernberg's Flagman, 25 to 1, took the lead, after going half a mile in the fifth race, at a mile, and was never headed. Horner had a mile, and was never headed. Horner had to ride him out, however, to win from Corn Blossom, 10 to 1, by half a length. Bryan, a hot favorite at even money, was an indifferent third. Nobody wanted Preen, who opened at 8 to 5, and went up to 2. The mile was turned in 1:40 2-5.

The Patchogue Stable's Belle of Iroquois, 8 to 5, was the only successful favorite. She ran away from a big field in the last race, for maiden two-year-olds, fillies and geldings, five and a half furiongs, and just breezed home three lengths in front of James R. Keene's Yorkist, 7 to 2. A. L. Aste's Lady Vincent, backed from 20 down to 10, got ut in time to beat Suada, 10 to 1, a head for third money. The race was run in 1:08 2-5. The attendance was essily 12,000. The summaries: FIRST BACE.

Chance to Play in Doubles.

BOSTON, July 23.—The opening day of the Eastern championship doubles and the sixteenth annual Longwood singles was marred by two showers, which did not allow all of the second round matches to be finished and barely enabled the doubles to be started. Despite the fact that the courts were soggy from the rain some good tennis was wit-nessed. Many of the followers of the sport were disappointed when Little defaulted to Seaver in order that he might enter the doubles. The match would probably have been a close one, and as it was Little did not profit by defaulting, as he did not play in the afternoon. In the fourth round N. W. Niles, the Harvard champion, defeated A. W. Reggio in three love sets and by his playing to-day he is recognized as a dangerous man for the champion.

STRONG WIND FOR YACHT RACE

ACCIDENT PUTS YANKEE OUT OF GOOD CONTEST.

H. I. Maxwell's Beat Led the Rainbow When Her Spreader Broke-Queen Sain Well and Defeats the Elmins -Sixty-four Starters at Larchment races sailed off Larchmont yesterday. There were contests in fourteen classes and these races were the second of the series arranged for Larchmont race week. As a marked con-trast to the opening day on Saturday the wind was moderate at the start and got stronger and stronger toward the finish. Fasttime was made in each class and in many the contests were close and exciting from start to finish. The Yamkee, sailed by H. L. Maxwell, led the Rainbow by 12 seconds at the start and, well handled by her owner, she kept the lead until near the finish of the first round. It was a reach on the first leg of the course. The second leg was a turn to wind-ward and at the turn the Yankee still led, this time by 35 seconds. On the reach across the Sound the Rainbow began to overhaul the Yankee and Yankee luffed to keep the Rainbow from passing her. This took the Yankee so far to the west that she had to gybe to fetch the home mark and in gybing some one let the topmast backstay ge too quick, with the result that the spreader broke and the top-mast with the big club topsail on it was dangerously near going over the side. It was the Mineola's topmast, too, which had been put in after the accident on Saturday. This eft the Rainbow to continue over the secon half of the course alone.

The wind was from the southwest when the regatta committee went out to the line and the courses signalled took the yachts to the east first, then to Hempstead, and then to the home mark.

The schooners went on the first signal at 11:40 o'clock. The mamouvring had been fine and then two yachts, Queen and Elmina, went over the line 49 seconds after the gun at exactly the same time, but with the Queen to windward. Booms were to port and bal-loon jib topsails were broken out just as they reached the line. The Queen drew away from the Elmina at once and showed some fine sailing, particularly on the windward leg. At the end of the first round the times taken were Queen, 1:29:26, Elmina, 1:36:46, so that the Queen was leading by 7 minutes 20 seconds. This lead was increased to 12 minutes 20 seconds on the second round and in addition to this the Queen got an allownce of 1 minute 19 seconds from the Elmina, seconds. The Rainbow beat the Queen 5 seconds. The Rainbow beat the Queen 5 seconds. The Rainbow beat the Queen 5 seconds actual time.

Four started in the 60 foot class. The Trolta, which has gone to Bristol, will not be down until to-morrow. The starters yesterday were Weetamoe, Neola, Effort and Isolde. The Effort got a rather poor start but had picked up somewhat at the end of the first round when the yachts were timed: Weetamoe, 1:41:28; Effort, 1:42:32; Neola, 1:45:08. On the first leg of the second round something went wrong and the Effort withdrew. The Weetamoe won the race. Isolde, on account of her allowance, was second and Neola third.

As usual, the New York Yacht Club so footers made a hot race. They crossed the line in close order with the Dahinda slightly in the lead, and it was nip and tuck from start to finish. The winner was Cara Mia, owned and sailed by Stuyvesant Wainwright. She finished 12 seconds ahead of the Phryne. The Neola II, was third, Adelaide fourth, then came the Dahinda, Nautilus, Minx, Alera, Banzai and Atair.

The raceabout class brought together eight yachts and the winner was A. L. Pirie's? Tartan. She beat the Chinook, owned by Robert Mallory, by 3 minutes 29 seconds, and Arthur Iselin's Tomboy by 3 minutes 50 seconds.

In the handicap class the Rube added anseconds. The Rainbow beat the Queen and Arthur Iselin's Tomboy by 3 minutes 50 seconds.

In the handicap class the Rube added another flag to her long string by winning with plenty to spare. She was 7 minutes ahead of the Marguerite and the allowances according to the handicap were well covered.

L. G. Spence's Dorothy won in the 21 foot class, beating the Heuri by 3 minutes 41 seconds. In class P the three Atlantic Yacht Club boats Crescent, Sue and Jigstep, met the Regins, which has been cut down so as to race in this class. The Crescent won, beating the Jigstep 1 minute 38 seconds, the Regins 2 minutes 29 seconds and the Sue 5 minutes 48 seconds.

It was Soya's turn in the 22 foot class. W. A. Barstow salled a ellever race, and beat the Spider 1 minute 59 seconds. The Baetta was third and the Joy fourth.

Mist won in the 18 foot class from the Virginia. In the race for Manhasset Bay one design boats the Ahoy beat the Chichicker by 50 seconds. The Wa Wa beat the Esnochi in the race for Indian Harbor knecksbutts. Nilo was the winner in the Riverside catboatt.

HARVARD TO ROW CAMBRIDGE. HOGG BRACES; TIGERS BEATEN Crew That Defeated Yale Will Meet English

Intervarsity Winner on the Tha CAMBRIDGE, July 23.—The Harvard crew that defeated Yale on the Charles River last month will now seek new laurels in England in September. It was learned here to-day that Capt. Oliver Filley had made arrangements for a race with the Cambridge, England; crew, the winner of the Oxford-Cambridge race, to be rowed on the Thames There were sixty-four starters in the yacht course on September 15.

The race has been definitely arranged; but there are many details that have not yet been discussed. As soon as it was settled that the two crews could get together the details were allowed to drop; as they can easily be arranged after the Harvard men get to England. The race was not arranged to decide any international championship or anything of the sort. Harvard does not pretend to be the American intercollegiate representative. She readily concedes that Cornell is the premier rowing collegiste representative. She readily concedes that Cornell is the premier rowing organization. The race was arranged for the good sport that will be in it and in order to give the Harvard crew as much fun as possible.

The arrangements for the race were made lar ely through F. L. Higginson, the Harvard crew captain of '99 and 1900, who is now in London, and R. C. Lehmann, the Cambridge man, who coached the Harvard crews in '97 and '98. In former years Mr. Lehmann has been an active coach at Cambridge; but his duties as a member of Parliament withheld him from coaching this spring.

It took a lot of work to get the two crews together, as the men of both botts were widely scattered, but to-night all of the men have been heard from and all have consented to row. Newhall, Glass and Fish, Nos. 7, 4 and 2, respectively, of the Harvard boat, are now in Europe and will join the rest of the crew in England. Capt. Filley, Bacon, next year's captain; Richardson; Tappan and Hlagden; stroke, 6, 5, bow and coxswain, respectively, will sail on the Cedric on Friday. The substitutes will be Capt. Faulkner of this year's freshman crew, who will go with the men on Friday; and Lunt, No. 6 in the freshman boat, who is now in Europe.

Morgan; who rowed No. 8 in the crew; is doing work in the Harvard summer school and will remain in Cambridge until the summer session closes, about the middle of August. Then he will go directly to London. In the meantime he will row in a single on the Charles every afternoon. Coach Wray will go with the men to look after them. Apparently the Englishmen have consented to have Harvard bring her professional coach, though the Healey; stewards allow no professionals around.

The $7.500 Iroquois Stakes for three-yearolds, one mile and a quarter, will be run at Brighton to-day with a fair lot of starters, including James R. Keene's Kuroki, Fred Burlew's Bellmere, Samson and others. Logistilla has top weight in a handicap at a mile and a sixteenth, with Bobbie Kean. totus Ester, Maxnar and Red Friar to beat. Maidens will run in the first race, at eix furlongs, with Oyama, Stole, Firebrand and Miss Ogden having chances. The second race is for two-year-olds, five and a half furlongs, with Vox Populi, Smiling Tom, Arcite and Kentucky Beau possibly the best. In the third event, at a mile and a sixteenth, Belle of Pequest, King Henry, Water Tank, and Cressina figure well. Two-year-olds will run in the sixth event, at five and a half furlengs, with Royal Breese, Clements, Yowric and Sommus all good. the West. ment of the Deal Golf Club, August 18, 17 and 18, with conditions the same as last year. Jerome Travers, last year's winner, said at the amateur championship that he would play at the Ekwanok tournament on the same dates, instead of at Deal, as he had never seen the Manchester course. His absence in which it will be hard to select the winner. Shinnecock Hills, August 2, 3 and 4; the M. G. Besides the Glen View trophy won in the open tournament by Warren K. Wood, fourteen club competitions were held on Saturday on links about Chicago. D. E. Sawyer made a 76 at Wheaton, and there was a members' match at Calumet with thirtymembers' match at Calumet with thirty-two on a side. There were three mixed foursomes. Mrs. Thomas Langford and her son Willie won at Glen View, with 98, 15-83; at Exmoor, Mrs. W. A. Alexander and E. F. Cary won the net with 97, 10-87, and Miss Frances Egan and H. Chandler Egan the gross prize with 96, and at Midlothian, Miss Myra Helmer and C. E. Willard won a "fancy dress" foursome, their card being 97, 1-96. Miss Helmer was in the costume of a waitress and Willard appeared as Maud Muller, to rake in the oup instead of the hay. Second honors went to Mrs. W. H. Sage, dressed as a dairy maid, and F. W. Farwell, in a clown's suit. Their card was 118, 21-97. These costume tournaments always create plenty of fun at Midlothian. The hit of Saturday is credited to Richard Fitzgerald, who impersonated a female trap shooter.

A committee made up of Phelps B. Hoyt, president of the Western Golf Association; Edward P. Martin, Chicago Golf Club; D. R. Forgan, Onwentsia, and Harry B. Clow, Glen View, have sent out an appeal for a testimonial for the widow of Herbert J. Tweedie, The appeal states, in part: "Herbert J. Tweedie's untimely death leaves a widow with eight children, seven of whom are step-children, and absolutely no means of support. A feeling having been generally expressed that a fund should be raised by golfers for the purpose of helping the widow and family, the signers have agreed to act as a committee for this most worthy object. Sums in any amount will be gratefully received, Mr. Forgan baving consented to act as treasurer."

The match was between William Berrian and A. J. Hinck, and was won by the former after very stubbornly contested play. There score was 6-3, 4-6, 6-2, 7-3, 7-5.

The Detroits were beaten by the New York Americans yesterday in a game in which the steadier batting of the winners was more productive than the streaky batting of the losers. The Tigers opened on Hogg by lumping five singles in the first inning, the hits splashing to the different points of the compass and all clean clouts, but failing completely to do anything damaging to him after that. As soon as Hogg went into his second speed, worked up to the proper velocity and attached the requisite deviation to his curves the Detroits collapsed as hitters and were blanked in the last eight innings. With his vigorous voltage and squirming slants, Hogg struck out eight men. He also gave six bases on balls and jeopardized the game somewhat by so doing, but was not so erratic that he did not have the whip hand when men were on bases.

struck out eight men. He also gave six bases on balls and jeopardized the game somewhat by so doing, but was not so erratio that he did not have the whip hand when men were on bases.

Both Hogg and Killian had recourse to a slow ball frequently. It fooled several batters, but it also was joited hard by several, Keeler, Hogg and Killian each flaying a floater for a safety. The fielding was good on both sides, the only error being by Chase, through whose legs and hands a ground ball cut its way, largely because Childe Harold was too sure of it. The list of those who melted away on the bases was large, and one feature was the putting out of nine of the Detroits at second base, either through being forced or caught there.

Jones jammed the second ball pitched to left in the first inning, and Schaefer salted one to centre. Crawford cracked one to centre which scored Jones, but right there Crawford made a play which had an important bearing on the final result. He tried to stretch his hit into a double and was thrown out by Hoffman. That play obecked the Detroits, although McIntyre mangled to right and scored Schaefer. Coughlin clipped a single to centre. He was forced by O'Leary after Lindsay had filed to Keeler.

The New Yorks tied the score in the third inning and had three left on bases. Hogg pounced on a slow one, and the ball trickled and not rolling far enough to be fielded. Keeler stabbed a short fly to left and filled the bases. Chase hit sharply between short and third and brought Hogg and Conroy kome. A pass to Williams filled the bases again, but Moriarity raised a puny fly and Delehanty flung a fly to Jones.

Hogg had one of his fickle spells in the fifth. He struck out the first batter, the next one singled, the next one struck out, the following two walked. Coughlin was the heat batter and was not equal to the cocasion. He wated a fly to right which williams and Moriarity's bit across second. In the seventh Hogg singled, Conroy walked and Keeler singled, making three on, with two outs. Keeler thrust a Champions Lose in Pittsburg-Brooklyns Down the Cubs.

The New York Nationals were easy prey for the Pittsburgs yesterday, but the was a silver lining to the cloud in the fact that the Brooklyns clipped the claws of the Chicago cubs. The Brooklyns are proving themselves tough customers on this trip and their playing is the feature of the second invasion of the West. The worst they can get in the present series with the leaders is an even break. The Bostons beat St. Louis. The
